Elizabeth . Age 34 . Originally from Marietta
 School Kennesaw State University . Relationship status Married
 Three words that describe me: Animated, fun, helpful

When Thomas Lintner met his wife, Elizabeth, it was like a scene from a television show. The two met at Wellstar Kennestone Hospital, each providing care to a burn patient. Thomas is a plastic surgeon, and Elizabeth has worked in various aspects of the medical field, but now works as a surgical technologist. The couple married four years ago, and worked together to open Thomas's own practice, Advanced Aesthetic Surgery, two years ago. The practice has two locations, Woodstock and Marietta, and has a waiting list of several months due to Thomas's reputation for quality surgical work and superb patient care. The cause of the American Heart Association hits home for Thomas, whose mother and father have both experienced heart problems. For the past several years, Thomas has supported the Atlanta Heart Ball, an event that raises money for the AHA. He also devotes his time and skills to the Good Samaritan Health Center of Cobb, a non-profit health care practice, as well as performing pro bono post-breast cancer reconstruction surgeries at his own practice. Thomas also can be found volunteering at his children's high school by giving physicals to the sports teams and serving as the at-game physician. The Lintners are both accomplished sailors, and, in their free time, often sail around the Caribbean either alone or accompanied by their four sons.

Ed Perry

Senior director at Turner Broadcasting

Age 35 . Originally From Nashville, Ga. . School University of Georgia . Relationship Status Single
 Three words that best describe me: Honest, considerate, grounded

If you've ever been lucky enough to talk with someone who lights up during a conversation, you'll strike fortune with Ed Perry. A towering 6 feet, 6 inches, Perry is a down-to-earth guy. Highly motivated to succeed and achieve, the goal-driven Perry is inspired by people who handle adversity with dignity. After working his way up through three different media companies, Perry is at the top of his game as a senior director at Turner Broadcasting. "I love my job!" he says enthusiastically. Perry's position demands that he travel to exciting cities to meet new people, which is when he shines the brightest. He credits his love of traveling to an adventurous nature. He takes to the bright lights of a bustling city and the calm serenity of a beach with equal enthusiasm and for the excitement offered by both environments. Perhaps that is to be expected from someone like the extremely athletic Perry, who loves skiing, running and lifting weights, and is SCUBA certified. With all his journeys and personal ambitions, Perry seems to pride himself most on what he offers to others. For six years he has been involved with, and even co-chaired, the Shepherd Center Derby Day, which benefits the therapeutic recreation department at the Shepherd Center. Ask him about a cause, and you'll be volunteering in no time. His passion for helping people is contagious, and, of course, undeniably beautiful.
